COELACANTH CAUGHT

Tananarive, Madagascar.- A Coelacanth—a prehistoric "fish with arms," was recently caught off the Comoro Island, between Madagascar and the African mainland. It was six feet, six inches long and is believed to be a female. A military plane was sent to bring the fish back to local scientific laboratories before it decomposes. Scientists hope the Coelanths will reveal secrets of prehistoric life as they are believed to date back 300,000,000 years.

HEROISM EXPENSIVE

Salem, Mass.- It cost Henry C. MacNeil, 23, $36.70 to be a hero. MacNeil swam 500 yards through cold, choppy waters to help Fred Page, 12, who was drifting out to sea in a rowboat. Thoroughly chilled, MacNeil was held overnight at a hospital and spent another day at home resting. The hospital bill amounted to $24.35 for room and board; $12 for laboratory fees and 35 cents or a prescription. MacNeil, who is married and has a small child, is a student at Boston's Wentworth Institute. He does odd jobs to support his amily.

Aerial Artist to Return

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Salads to Entice the Appetite

This is the season when we crave "something different" in foods. Spring is in the air. And what could be better for lunch than piping hot soup and a crisp well-flavored combination salad plate!

Princess Potato Salad is a little different from the usual potato salads. It is spicey with a delightful fresh flavor. Mixed Pea Salad contains tiny cubes of American cheese which not only adds protein, but combined with canned peas makes a satisfactory and satisfying meat substitute. If you are lucky enough to have a bed of watercress in a nearby stream, it will be just the thing for the green to finish off both of these salads.

Princess Potato Salad
1-2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 cups cooked white potatoes
3 hard cooked eggs
1 cup chopped ripe olives
2 tablespoons slivered green pepper
1 cup thinly sliced celery
Salt, pepper and paprika
Salad greens.

Combine mayonnaise and mustard; add diced potatoes, chill for 2 or 3 hours to blend flavors. Add eggs, olives, (green may be substituted for ripe olives), celery, onion and seasonings to taste. Chill. Serve on crisp greens. Makes four to six servings.

Mixed Pea Salad
1-2 cup mayonnaise
1-4 cup French Dressing
1 can (2 cups) peas
1 cup sliced celery
1-2 cup diced American cheese
Salad greens.
Salt, pepper to taste.

Mix mayonnaise and French dressing. Add drained peas and chill for 2 hours until flavors blend. Mix with celery and cheese. Season to taste. Serve on crisp greens. Makes six servings.

Laundering Safety

Rubber aprons are rarely are listed as equipment for home laundering. But the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggests that if the floor around the washing machine gets wet, as it often does during this job, then wearing rubber overshoes is protection against possibility of electric shock. If there should be a short circuit, the rubber will prevent current from using your body as a path from the machine to the wet floor. Standing on a dry mat gives protection, but keeping the mat dry is often difficult.

Most modern electric household washers have the motor placed where it is shieded from water, grounded and insulated from the metal of the machine. When buying a washing machine, it's a safety-wise to learn from the dealer whether the machine is automatically grounded or will require grounding when installed. A safety feature that the manufacturers are considering for washing machines is a three-way plug, one prong of which would connect with a ground wire.

WOOD FOR SALE

Denver, Col.- Government officials have announced that one and a half billion board feet of wood, killed by hordes of beetles, would be sold at auction. The estimated 3,000,000 cords of wood covers 275,000 acres in White River and Routt National forests northeast of Glenwood Springs, Col.

THIEVES GET $1.50

Oklahoma City.- Ambitious thieves yanked up a parking meter —with 150 pounds of concrete attached to its base—and robbed it of $1.50 in parking coins.

Unprintable

Every whistle of a locomotive means some thing, says the Digest. So does every honk of a horn, but you can't print it. —Minneapolis Star.

IN FASHION NOW

Play clothes and coithes to travel in are very much in demand right now. The latest thing in play clothes combines good looks and comfort. Shorts, blouses, bathing suits—all must fit perfectly and allow plenty of room for action.

The new man-made fibers are combined with cotton and silk to make play clothes that are as easy to care for as they are to look at. Plaids and flower prints seem to be the most popular and have a new look to them. Attractive cotton and leather belts are often used to complete or tie together a two - piece outfit of shorts and blouse or full skirt and blouse.

The new look in bathing suits is belted. Many of the latest tank-style bathing suits feature plastic belts to emphasize a small waist. New neck treatment is important. The off-the-shoulder swim suit is becoming, but not too practical. The halter-top suit looks nice on the girl with a small bust. The strapless suit is somewhat dated looking now with all the new neck line interest. However, because it is the only way to get an even tan, the strapless suit will always be a favorite with the sun tan worshippers.

Cotton gems, rhinestones and pearls are being made into bathing suits that look more at home at a dance or the bedroom than on the beach. The over-done in suits are quite expensive and retailers tell us that they are slow selling. It is not hard to see why.

A great deal has been done in the last couple of years to make bathing caps more attractive. You have almost as many styles as when buying a more conventional type hat.

Cosmetic houses are advertising lipstick, mascara, in fact all of the usual beauty aids, in waterproof editions. This is a boon to the girls who are not natural beauties.

Health & Be

Pediatricians say that a child affected by emotions often loses his appetite. For this reason it is wise to conceal any emotion set you may feel from your child. His life should be made as much as possible, of ... and-be-loved.

When a baby is happy and well, even if he dawdles over food, talk him into another bite, force food into his mouth by the necessary time to feed the baby and don't skimp. Don't cut corners, be sure it is time for the baby's meal time.

We are told that a child gains food likes and dislikes at his first milk. Introduce new foods gradually so that he can easily used to each new flavor and texture. With a very young child texture may be even more important than flavor. If he refuses food and spits it out, don't get upset. Take it casually and try it on the same new food later.

A baby has two very strong feelings connected with his hunger and appetite. Hunger is an uncomfortable feeling, with pain in his tummy. He will let you know when he feels hungry by his cry. Appetite is a very pleasant sensation and his desire to be fed for food values.

Even formula-making has been made much easier. With the partially prepared formulas you need to do is add boiled water only that, but the new formulas are ready put together, are no better for baby.

TOUR ANNOUNCED OF CAMPBELL HOMES

"Nothing, that was worthy in the past, departs."

The Brookneal Woman's Club is sponsoring an Historic Tour of interesting places and homes in the southern part of Campbell County in an effort to interest people in local history as well as to see the old places which have remained "as they were," Saturday, May 19, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The tour will include:

The Pick House in Brookneal where Gen. Lewis A. Pick was born. In this house interesting relics of the erea will be displayed.

Nick Up or Red Tavern, said to be the oldest brick house in the county. Here Patrick Henry was a regular patron of this tavern as he traveled between two of his estates, Long Island and Red Hill. Here sandwiches and drinks will be sold.

Green Hill, near here, built by the Fuquas and later owned by Samuel Pannill is a splendid example of the old agrarian way of life.

White Hall, the home of the Paynes. Both Green Hill and White Hall are near Long Island.

Shady Grove, near Gladys, which was the home of Patrick Henry's son, Spottswood Henry.

Hat Creek Presbyterian Church. The first settlement in Campbell County was made in this community by Scotch-Irish between 1735-1740.

Red Hill, the home of Patrick Henry, in nearby Charlotte County.

Tickets to one or all of these places may be secured at any of the points of interest.

The proceeds from this project will go for the benefit of the Brookneal Library which is sponsored by the Woman's Club.

APPOMATTOX RECORD ON FOREST FIRES GOOD

The annual cooperative forest fire report of the Division of Forestry shows that during the calendar year 1955, some 1,506 forest fires burned a total of 15,840 acres of woodland. Again the principal cause was the smoker, being responsible for 490 fires or 32.6 per cent of the total. The second most important group was the brush burners, who accounted for 376 fires, or 25 per cent. Following this were railroad fires with 178. Next were 134 resulting from incendiarists. The other causes were campfires, with 60, lightning with 16, and lumbering with 13. There were 249 other fires listed as miscellaneous.

Farmville district had 153 forest fires which burned 932 acres. Actually, this was a vast improvement over the previous year, 1954, when 273 fires burned 1,467 acres.

Appomatox County had 7 fires with 12.5 acres burned, one of the best records in the district.
